It is ideal for users of small boats such as RIBs and day boats such as those used by anglers. It's also a great course for those who are currently crewing on yachts and want to learn a little more before eventually progressing to the full Day Skipper courses. See below for details of how to register for the online course.

2. ICC CEVNI Endorsement

Anyone requiring an ICC valid for inland waters must pass the CEVNI Test. A valid ICC is often required for cruising Europe's inland waters. To validate your ICC (International Certificate of Competence) for inland waters you must take the CEVNI test, which checks your knowledge of the rules and signs that skippers of pleasure craft are expected to know and follow.

The RYA ICC CEVNI test is a multiple choice. After booking your course with us, you can practice the test before taking it for real by going to our RYA Interactive site and clicking "Try the test". You can try the practice test as many times as you like and your score won't be recorded.

Once you have completed the CEVNI test, you will be told immediately whether you have been successful or not. Follow the on-screen instructions for details of how to get your ICC validated for inland waters.
